

RESUMÉ

Name&Title:	Matt Aune, associate AIA
Firm Name:	Mosaic Architecture, P.C.
Team role:	AIT/Designer
Years of experience:	4
Education (degree/year):	Bachelor of Environmental Design – Montana State University, 2009 (graduate with honors) Master of Architecture – Montana State University, 2010

Experience & Qualifications:

After graduating from college in 2010 Matt went to work for Fentress Architects, a global design firm that passionately pursues the creation of sustainable and iconic architecture. While at Fentress, Matt worked on numerous international and national design competitions and projects. After playing a large part in the winning of the San Diego convention center expansion and the LEED Gold/LEED Platinum Charles Schwab Denver Campus, Matt worked closely with the design team to design and coordinate the project. During Matt's tenure at Fentress Architects he worked on over two million sq. feet of space totaling over one billion dollars in construction costs. Now back in his home state he resumes his passion for architecture and works once again with Mosaic Architecture. Matt is always striving to deliver high quality design for his clients.
